

Gettysburg Compiler.

Tuesday Evening, October 14, 1861.

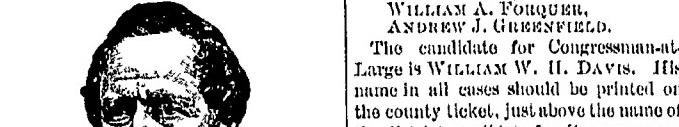

Democratic National Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT,

HON. GROVER CLEVELAND
of New York.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

HON. THOMAS A. HENDRICKS, of Indiana.

Democratic County Ticket.

President Judge,

HON. WM. McCLELLAN, of Gettysburg

Congress.

HON. WM. A. DUNCAN, Gettysburg

Congress-at-Large.

GEN. W. H. DAVIS, of Bucks Co.

Associate Judge of Bucks Co.

HON. A. P. SMITH, of Freedom Twp.

HON. J. E. SMITH, of Mount Pleasant,

Assembly.

P. H. STRUBLING, of Berwick Twp.

N. W. HARTMANN, of Franklin Twp.

SAMUEL EAGLETON, of Monaca Twp.

Clerk of the Courts.

CICERO W. STONE, East Berlin bor.

Registrar and Recorder.

J. S. STONESINGER, Littlestown bor.

County Treasurer.

GEORGE E. STONE, of Gettysburg

County Commissioner.

ABRAHAM WISNER, N. Oxford bor.

Director of the Poor.

WM. F. THOMAS, of Strasburg Twp.

County Auditors.

JOHN A. SMYTH, of Huntington Twp.

JAMES B. MYERS, of Highland Twp.

Congress.

Dr. H. L. DIEHL, of Gettysburg bor.

Otto and West Virginia vote to-day.

It is conceded that the latter will go Democratic, but the former, notwithstanding its 35,000 majority for Garfield, the Republicans feel it to be peril. The Republican millionaires are trying to buy the State, and may succeed, but only under the pressure of a mountain of money. A sad spectacle for a country where the ballot ought to be free and unobstructed.

The Philadelphia Times says the Democratic leaders "are meeting the Republicans to carry the State, but hoping otherwise. The Republicans are expecting to carry the State, but fearing otherwise."

BELIEVE is now more than ever Jay Gould's man—a very dangerous thing for a President of the United States to be. Is one man, rich and unscrupulous, to have this great man run his affairs in the nation of Republic? Voters, beware!

BLAINE denies and denies, but confidence in his veracity is gone. Will a great country like this select such a man to rule over it?

QUAY himself admits that a bargain has been struck between Blaine and Cameron, and takes occasion to say that he (Quay) don't like it. But Cameron can afford to smug Quay when he has Blaine on his hook.

REPUBLICAN candidates are at the old trick of flattering Democrats, and then asking, if they "cannot vote for, to do nothing against them," and insist on a promise of some kind. It is an impudent thing to do, and needs to be rebuked at once and with emphasis by every Democrat.

A LETTER from Mr. Jacob Spangler, of Illinois, to N. Miller, Esq., of this place, brings good news. He says that "every county in the State shows heavy Democratic gains, and Chicago, once 12,000 Republican, will be 12,000 Democratic. We expect to send General Black to the United States Senate instead of Black Jack Logan. You may laugh at my predictions, but they will come true."

THE work of getting out a full Democratic vote must be well done, and preparations cannot begin too early. See that every Democrat votes and that he supports every man on the Democratic ticket. To do anything else is to favor the Republican party, which is now, by the foulest means, trying to foist a corrupt man upon the country as its chief executive.

THE shadow of Cameronomism once more darkens the land.—Bedford Gazette.

And every vote for Ephraim Myers or S. S. Stockslager is a vote to continue Cameron in the U. S. Senate.

THE Republican leaders and candidates put their heads together at the McElroy house Saturday to devise means to interest the interest of Jim Blaine and the local candidates. Democrats must not fail to remember that the "price of liberty is eternal vigilance." Cleveland and Hendricks and the whole Democratic ticket must now be the Democratic watchword.

READ Mr. Tilden's letter, on first page. There is nothing uncertain in its sound, and its words are those of wisdom and prophecy.

GOD, MCLANE, of Maryland, will be one of the speakers at the great Democratic barbecue at Brooklyn, New York, next Thursday. Grover Cleveland is to be present and the affair is to be the greatest demonstration ever witnessed in this country.

ANYTHING less than 20,000 Republican majority in Ohio to-day would be a legitimate return for Blaine's expensive circus.

LATEST.—The New England Republicans are leaving in droves. The revolt against Blaine is something entirely unprecedented and swelling every day.

CLEVELAND will be elected by the vote of New York and Indiana, and Connecticut, New Jersey, California and Nevada to spare.

THAT Blaine was a leading Know Nothing there is no doubt. In 1850 he was one of the editors of the Kennebec Journal, the Know Nothing organ of Maine.

THE ELECTORAL TICKET.

The following is a correct copy of the Democratic Electoral Ticket in Pennsylvania this year, and of the style in which it should be printed:

STATE
ELECTORS,
RICHARD VAUX,
BENJAMIN MCGRATH,
HENRY PLUMER,
JOHN SLOTT,
JOHN P. J. SENNEDY, JR.,
HUMPHREY T. TOLAN,
WILLIAM WHIGMAN,
JOHN H. BRINTON,
WILLIAM STAHLER,
CHARLES F. REINSTEINER,
JOHN H. COOPER,
LAWRENCE G. STILES,
ALBERT G. BROOKHEAD,
FERDINAND V. ROCKAFELLER,
RICHARD HARRIS,
JAMES R. COOPER,
GEORGE S. PURDY,
PHILIPPE R. ACKLEY,
JOHN P. LEVAN,
EDWARD C. COOPER,
EDWARD W. MUNNA,
ANDREW H. DILL,
FRANKLIN P. TAMS,
JAMES P. DUKE,
JOHN A. WINNETZT,
JOHN H. HILL,
WILLIAM A. FORQUEH,
ANDREW G. GREGG.

The candidate for Congressman-at-Large is WILLIAM H. W. DAVIS. His name in all cases should be printed on the county ticket, just above the name of the district candidate for Congress, over whose name should be put simply the title "Congress."

DOES NOT LOSE YOUR VOTE.—Remember that every elector who removes from one Election District to another during the month of October, disenfranchises himself and will lose his vote because he cannot vote in the district from whence he moved, nor in his newly adopted place of residence; from the fact that the Constitution requires the voter to reside 60 days or two months preceding the election to be eligible to vote. See "Constitutional provisions," etc., close in the Sheriff's Election Preliminary, found on the fourth page.

THE "trade dollar" fraud continues, because a Republican U. S. Senate so will. The votes of the people of Adams county will this year have unusual weight. By supporting Strubling and Hartman and sending them to the Legislature, they will aid in placing a Democrat in Don Cameron's seat, and thus enable the Senator to; and another probably from Illinois, will make it easier for a candidate to be elected.

INFLUENTIAL.—The influence of the Blaine corruption fund, may also operate successfully upon one or two important states voting before the presidential election takes place and thus affect the result of the national election.

THE people of Ohio and West Virginia, it left to record their deliberate judgment, will this year undoubtedly vote to turn the Republican party out of power. But they have been invaded by thousands of government officials, the monopoly of the syndicate of millionaire monopolists is being used to stiffle the will of their people, cut-jobs of negroes from Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia have been hurried upon their souls to vote and obtain office, which has generally accepted the results of the war with all its consequences, so that there is no essential difference between the two parties. They will not go to war, not merely to gain pardon and victory, but pledged to give to those who trust in the utmost benefits of a pure, honest, incorruptible government.

THE New York Products and Services force is possessed of human virtue and Spanish courage if they shall be able to resist the despotism assault to their ballot box and organize, work and vote their power upon their political integrity.

INFLUENTIAL.—The presidential result is not likely to be affected this year by the October vote. New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, and Indiana, no matter what may happen in October. These states with the other Democratic candidates cast 23 electoral votes or more than a majority of the electoral college. James G. Blaine can never be elected to the presidency.—Padua.

THE Democracy of this Congressional District, have done themselves credit by unanimously renouncing Hon. Wm. W. Duncan, of Indiana, and Hendricks no matter what may happen in October.

THE year the Committee sends Steve King to Ohio with $1,000,000 to secure a Republican victory, in a contest of the most extreme importance to the Democrats and to the great body of the people, should any Democrat hasten to vote for the nominees of his own party? No, a thousand times No.

HEAVY BETTING.—C. F. Woessner, a New York banker, has bet $10,000,000 even that Cleveland will be elected, and also $10,000 to $8,000 that he will carry New York State. E. K. Willard, a New York broker, is a heavy bidder.

NEW books bid each day at a rate of $100 to $80 that Cleveland will win, and much larger odds that he will carry New York. The New York Morning Journal says, from inquiry, the following odds may be taken as the betting quotients on the Stock Exchange: On Cleveland's election, from 100 to 80 to 80 to 80; $100 to $80 on New York for Cleveland; that he will get 10,000 in New York, $100 to 80.

MOSTLY ago something was said about Blaine carrying Georgia with other southern states and yet at the late election the Republican vote of Georgia reached 20,000, giving the Democratic candidate for Governor about 400,000 majority. The Blaines have been doing an immense amount of bludging without a particle of foundation.

ONE of the most astonishing pieces of treachery and impudence is the way the Republican party undertakes to hold down the laboring man to vote their ticket. A case in point is the Calcutta one here near Carnegie, Lancaster county, where, as the Advertiser says, the employees were given to understand that if Blaine was not elected, the mines would positively not pay to miners, nor do the owners care whether the laborer makes a living or not, and have only been paying 90 cents a day for men who have been working up to their knees in mud. Is it not about time for the laboring men to see how false their promises are? Did not Christ, Kaufman tell them four years ago, that if Hancock was elected, "the owl would roost in the furnace stacks?" To employ miners and miners' wives in the coal and iron districts of the country, and to have them do the same work as the miners in West Chester county, New York, adopted the prevailing fashion among light-headed young hatters and closed over the existence of the Blaine ticket until November.

Who supplies the Republicans with a corruption fund to be used to reverse the will of the people and secure a false verdict of the ballot?

The millionaires, who have amassed enormous fortunes through Republican policy while Labor has been starving. The monopolists and grand railroad grabbers and speculators who receive and are ready to pay for privileges from Republican administrations, Congressmen and courts.

"The $1,000,000 Ohio fund comes from Jay Gould, Cyrus W. Field, C. P. Huntington and Russell Sage; from bankers like Leopold P. Morton, Drexel, Morgan & Co., the wealthy Seignioris; from Vanduhill and other great railroad magnates.

These millionaires pour out their money for nothing? Oh, no! They are in action for favors expected in the future in view of Republican success.—NY. World.

STOUR in Ohio will carry for the Republicans by the courageous and influential metropolis to which the Blaine miners have resorted, it will prove a decided advantage to the Democrats, and there is no telling how many tens of thousands of miners will be induced to leave their homes as it is. As it is, they are not paid enough to support their families, and there is nothing about the tariff without being told that it is just what the Republicans have made it in twenty-three years of their rule, and that the miners are more amenable for whatever the country is enduring now.

Mr. Duncan's election is, of course, to help him to provide ammunition for the Republicans to use in their attack on the Blaine campaign and to keep him in office.

So when we are proud to have our country in the hands of the best men of the world, we are to be told that the Blaine campaign will be a success, and that the miners will be robbed of their wages.

THE most notorious of the Blaine miners, the miners of the coal and iron districts of the country, and the miners of the iron and steel districts

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

mines of the country, and the miners

of the country, and the miners of the

Tuesday Evening, October 14, 1864.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

LOCAL FLASHES.—Presidential election three weeks from to-day.

—Quite a frost on Friday morning.

—November Court will begin the 10th of that month and continue two weeks.

—Frederick Fair this week; Lancaster town next week.

—The York Fair proved a fine success; 20,000 people reported on Thursday.

—Rev. J. A. Hoffmeyer and wife, of Martinsburg, W. Va., are here visiting friends. He filled the Reformed pulpit Sunday morning.

—Read important notice of R. H. Thomas, Esq., on first page. We hope the people of Adams will do a full share and enter upon the work at once.

—The many friends of Mr. Clever W. Stover, the Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Courts, will be glad to learn that he is better and on a fair way to recovery.

—The Warner block, opposite the Court-house, is being handsomely pulled down.

—The present hog cholera is said to be akin to diphtheria. Abraham Loomis, of Huntington township, has lost 35 head.

—$2,000 life insurance has been received by Col. Cyrus Diller's executors.

—Mr. Jacob B. Miller, of Huntington township, estimates the loss by the burning of his barn at $1,900.

—Rev. Peter Ruby, a Lutheran preacher or educated at Gettysburg, died in Chester county on Thursday week, aged 63 years. His disease was of a pulmonary character.

—Out 30 the 93d Pennsylvania Regiment will erect a handsome monumet on the Gettysburg battlefield.

—Dr. J. W. O'Neil sailed on Saturday, in the Philadelphia, Anchor Line, for Glasgow.

—Gardner's has been made a regular ticket and freight station on the railroad.

NEXT SATURDAY EVENING.—Cleveland and Hendricks meeting at the Globe Inn. Democrats, rally!

HON. F. J. NELSON, of Frederick, has consented to address a Democratic meeting at Hartney, Inn, on Tuesday evening, the 28th of October instant. Additional speakers have been invited, and the full arrangements will be announced next week. Let the Democrats of Carroll and Frederick and Adams rally in their strength on the occasion.

JUDGE McCLEAN is holding Court in Fulton county this week.

Don't forget the excursion from Gettysburg to Baltimore to-morrow week, the 22d. Round-trip $1.50, or $2 for those who may desire to remain in the city until next day. The train will stop at Hotel's and Duffer's.

COL. FULLER visited York Springs last week, and had a talk with the people in regard to a railroad from that borough to Idaville, on the line of the G. and H. Railroad. The idea seemed to take very well, and many became enthusiastic over it. Mr. Lehman will run a line between the two points, to get the probable cost, &c.

FOOT.—Dwelling corner Chambersburg street and Centre Square, A.P. to AMOS ECKER, Oct. 14, 1864.

CAPT. L. V. DILLER, of East Berlin, has received the contract for grading and masonry of the Stewartstown Railroad, 7 miles, in York county. There were 30 bidders.

We invite everybody to come and inspect the largest and finest assortment of Ladies' Cloth, Domestics, Newmarket, Russian Creations, Pafetots, Stockings, Jackets, Cloth Waists of the latest styles ever seen in Gettysburg.

Oct. 13. J. L. SCHICK.

WORK on the stone abutments for the "Tawpawon" Railroad bridge across Marsh creek is progressing, and they will be ready for the superstructure in about a month. The span is to be 90 feet, with a trestle of 15 feet to the west. Considerable grading has been done on the other side of the creek. The present objective point is said to be the "Trade Road" from Franklin to Cashtown.

LADIES' Handbags, Pocket Books, Leather Belts, and Umbrellas, Rubber Circles in great variety. J. L. SCHICK.

NEW LIFE STOCK INSURANCE COMPANY.—The following persons were elected officers of the Adams County Life Stock Insurance Company: President, George C. Thompson; Vice-President, John H. Hartnett; Secretary, James C. McElroy; Treasurer, W. M. Spangler; Dr. A. W. Howard, Bendersville; Francis A. Neal, Bonnerville; Abbie Smucker, Littlestown; John G. Behringerhoff, and Martin Winter. The out of the Company will be in Gettysburg, Pa., it.

DON'T FAIL to secure some of the bargains in Dry Goods, Notions, and all kinds of Shoes and Ladies' Rubbers which are being carried away daily from Zinn's New Store, who is setting off at east and intending to quit business. One post office the Eagle Hotel on Chambersburg street, Gettysburg, Pa.

To THE COMPILER.—I have for some time heard Republicans wondering why their party couldn't have a ticket of their own in this place, and I suppose that question brought the Republican wiseacres together in your place on Saturday. I mean that an attempt to put up a Democratic ticket for Sheriff was taken down; but that it was ordered that the name of William H. Culp be printed on the Republican ticket for County Treasurer.

The most of the time was taken up with plans to, hence, Ephraim Myers and Samuel S. Stockslager for Assembly and William Gildon for one of the Associate Judges to concentrate on these three, and get all the "trading" and "putting" possible for them. The action taken in regard to William H. Culp is the worst. A close Democratic neighbor of mine, who was in town on Saturday, heard what had been done in the Republican caucus, now tells me that it will vote to the whole Democratic ticket, George B. Stock, while picking up, Friday, Mr. Daniel Tracy, with whom he previously had some idea of supporting Mr. Culp. The Republicans will Mr. Culp, if chosen, be defeated.

All which will apply equally well to the Democratic ticket in Adams, and the good adels worth of acceptance here as well as in Perry.

DEMOCRATS, you have an excellent County ticket. It is worth your support. Give it your multiplied vote. All of them are honest and capable men and worthy of the confidence of the people, and firmly deserves the political status with them. Your cause is just; your plan, I trust, will be directed to the advantage of the whole Democratic ticket.

Perry.—I have every confidence in the Democratic ticket, George B. Stock, while picking up, Friday, Mr. Daniel Tracy, and the good adels worth of acceptance here as well as in Perry.

WE are receiving daily, new, fresh and desirable goods in every department.

Oct. 13. J. L. SCHICK.

Mr. DANIEL TRACY, of Columbia county, the maker and owner of Tracy's Linen, died from the kick of a horse on Tuesday.

ORGANIZE, have every Democrat ready, and then when the time comes get to the polls early in the morning.

P. V.

THE CANAL MONUMENT will be unveiled to-morrow. Col. W. Brooks, Ravel to deliver the oration. The start will be made from town in vehicles at 2 P. M., and the ceremony will follow at the arrival of the veterans on the ground three miles east of Gettysburg.

A meeting in the Court-house in the evening will afford the opportunity for a free soldier talk, and an occasion of mutual interest may be expected. The public cordially invited.

Excursion trains all along the Cumberland Valley Railroad will bring hundreds of people, and many will come from other points. Besides Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and Maryland will be represented. It is to be a gala day for the cavalry.

The York Fair proved a fine success; 20,000 people reported on Thursday.

—Rev. J. A. Hoffmeyer and wife, of Martinsburg, W. Va., are here visiting friends. He filled the Reformed pulpit Sunday morning.

—Read important notice of R. H. Thomas, Esq., on first page. We hope the people of Adams will do a full share and enter upon the work at once.

—The many friends of Mr. Clever W. Stover, the Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Courts, will be glad to learn that he is better and on a fair way to recovery.

—The Warner block, opposite the Court-house, is being handsomely pulled down.

—The present hog cholera is said to be akin to diphtheria. Abraham Loomis, of Huntington township, has lost 35 head.

—$2,000 life insurance has been received by Col. Cyrus Diller's executors.

—Mr. Jacob B. Miller, of Huntington township, estimates the loss by the burning of his barn at $1,900.

—Rev. Peter Ruby, a Lutheran preacher or educated at Gettysburg, died in Chester county on Thursday week, aged 63 years. His disease was of a pulmonary character.

—Out 30 the 93d Pennsylvania Regiment will erect a handsome monumet on the Gettysburg battlefield.

—Dr. J. W. O'Neil sailed on Saturday, in the Philadelphia, Anchor Line, for Glasgow.

—Gardner's has been made a regular ticket and freight station on the railroad.

DEATH OF A YOUNG ATTORNEY.—The unexpected death of Andrew W. Flemming, Jr., Esq., on Saturday, shocked the community. He had suffered from rheumatism, and was confined to his house. For a long while his health, though failing, had improved, but, getting better, he appeared on the streets, and only on Friday afternoon called at the COMPILER offices, cheerful as usual and in good spirits to us an early recovery. During that night, however, he was taken with pneumonia and congestion of the lungs ended his life about noon of Saturday. The death created a universal feeling of regret and sorrow, and the deepest sympathy of all hearts was bestowed for those nearest and dearest to him, and especially for the aged father and mother, whose concern for their rising boy was most warm and affectionate. But, day after day, with a home that might be bright and happy, he was a gloomy and desolate figure in their gloom.

The monument is up and makes a fine appearance. It is 28 feet high, with a ball surmounting it, and can be seen from East Cemetery hill. The inscriptions have already been given. This shaft marks the Field of Engagement, and stood 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

ACTING OF THE BAR.

At a meeting of the members of the Adams County Bar, called on Saturday afternoon, October 4th, 1864, to take action on the death of their brother, A. W. Flemming, Jr., it was voted that the family of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, died at his residence in Gettysburg. He had been ill for several weeks, and had been confined to his bed for a week. He was 60 years old.

He was a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he joined an honorable and manly character, and he hence enjoyed universal esteem and good will.

THE DEATH OF MR. HARRIS.

On Saturday, Oct. 1, 1864, at 11 o'clock, Mr. Harris, a member of the firm of Andrew W. and Judith A. Flemming, and aged 24 years 11 months and 21 days. It early began preparing himself for teaching in the Common Schools, and when quite young had earned the reputation of being one of the best, most efficient and popular teachers in the county. He presently entered upon the study of law, and in due time his admission followed, after a highly creditable examination. As a student he was earnest and industrious, and whilst perfecting himself in special branches, acquired a large fund of general information. He had the ambition to be a good lawyer, and it had been styled him would have attained prominence at the bar. To a gentle and friendly nature he

